

DEBUTANTE OF THE FUTURE

MISS GRIZELLE HOUSTON.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Houston, who with her sister, Bryan, will enter school in New York within the week.

The departure of the Twenty-ninth from Port Douglas has left a big blank place in local society, and the coming of the new regiment is awaited with interest by the friends of the army people. The holidays will be upon us before the military folk are really settled, but surely Salt Lakeers who have always held such close friendships with the post people should see to it that the incoming regiment gets a welcome befitting the time of year. In the past there have always been a few at least to welcome the newcomers in the way of some big social event, and the townspeople have always been guests. Would it not be well to reverse this time?

Word comes from the L. C. Miller party, now in Geneva, of the fearful disaster they suffered in the matter of a fine imposed for fast driving of their automobile in a little village on the shore of Lake Geneva. The sum of the fine was 50 cents in United States coin, and the four of them were delighted to pay the amount, nearly a quarter each, for the sport they had. They left early in the morning for Italy, going over the Simplon pass.

The splendid roads are not the only attractions to be found in a motor trip to Garfield these days. There are said to be a number of eligible old there, and a number of wise mothers and easily-managed fathers here, whose touring cars are most serviceable in finding a way to secure such desirable acquisitions. If Dame Fortune can be trusted, there will be a few holiday matches arranged before the snow flies.

Wednesday next is to be a sort of banner wedding day. It will fairly rival "a day in June," not perhaps in its rarity, but in the number of its nuptial events. Two of the young girls well known in the city, Miss Eveline Thomas and Miss Louise Wey, will become brides on that day, and any number of others have selected it as the day of days.

Every one is wondering if the school boy and girl flirtation is to be revived, and the rather decided attentions paid by the youngsters during the past summer have made friends inclined to think it is to have a happy ending.

Women's Clubs.

Ladies' Literary Club.
The Ladies' Literary club held the opening meeting of the year on Friday last at the club house with an attendance which taxed the capacity of the club house. The program opened with an address by Mrs. G. V. Parmelee, the newly-elected president. Mrs. Parmelee spoke without manuscript and made a very excellent impression with her first experience in presiding. She had no one topic selected for her address, but after a few words of greeting she spoke of the special need for concerted effort on the part of the club women in educational matters of the city. She urged that the club women take up the matter of providing adequate high school facilities. She told of the excellent work done there, and deplored the fact that the high school is not centrally located and is altogether inadequate for the growing needs of the city. Mrs. Parmelee urged the women to take some action relative to securing a suitable site in the eastern part of the city.

Following the president's address Mrs. J. C. Rowie, the club's first president and now a primary speaker, arose and in a few words expressed her gratification at being once more with the club at its opening meeting. Mrs. Rowie spoke enthusiastically of the old days of the club and the few who were gathered for their hour of study. She said, in closing: "We were old-fashioned and few in number, but we were in earnest, and we stayed, and so you are here." The club members then sang, "The Club members warmly, and later she, together with two other charter members, Mrs. Mary G. Miller and Mrs. Henrietta Billings, was seated on the platform for the remainder of the program. This consisted of some of the finest musical numbers the club has had. Miss Esther Allen's orchestra of young girls played some beautiful selections, and Mrs. Harry M. Engstrom was heard in three vocal numbers. Mrs. M. M. Young accompanying her. Later M. J. Brines rendered a group of three songs, German, French and English, and so insistent was the applause that he was obliged to respond more than once. Margaret Robinson Kerr followed with a Liszt rhapsody for the piano. The only business taken up was the re-instating of Mrs. J. C. Hancock, who has been absent from the city for the past two years.

The afternoon closed with a social hour, when the new entertainment committee served refreshments, and greetings were exchanged after the summer suspension of club work.

Woman's Democratic Club.

The Woman's Democratic club held a meeting on Wednesday last at the home of Mrs. J. F. Flacey, when Judge Gowans of the juvenile court addressed the women. Judge Gowans told of the fearful condition existing in the needs of a detention home, and the women pledged themselves to do all in their power in the coming campaign to secure such a place. A special meeting will be held the 25th at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Brown on Barclay avenue to decide on a course of action.

Daughters of American Revolution.

The Spirit of Liberty chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held the opening meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Edward L. Jones, on N street, on Thursday afternoon. So much routine business was transacted that the report of the Continental Congress, to be given by Mrs. R. M. Stevenson, was postponed. An informal musical program was rendered, and tea was served late in the afternoon.

The current events and current literature section of the Ladies' Literary club will hold the first meeting next Friday afternoon at the club house. Instead of a prepared program the business of selecting a new chairman will be taken up, the resignation of Miss Mary Ryder making such an election necessary.

The Daughters of the Revolution will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at the office of the Woman's Exposition in the Templeton building. A member of the Ethan Allen chapter in Vermont will be a special guest at the meeting.

The club chorus of the Ladies' Literary club will meet next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the studio of Mrs. William A. Wetzel, in the Templeton building.

The Browning section of the Ladies' Literary club holds its first meeting for the year Sept. 26, at the home of Mrs. William C. Jennings, 129 East Second street.

The history section will hold its first meeting Thursday, the 25th, at the club house. Mrs. Knowles will give the topic, "Traditional History of the Roman Kings."

The music section holds its first meeting Sept. 23. The composers are Edward MacDowell and Richard Strauss. Mrs. W. F. James and Miss Lena Hague will have charge of the program.

The P. E. O. will meet with Mrs. Harry Ganz Saturday, Sept. 21, Ninth East, between Fourth and Fifth South.

The art section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet next Thursday at the club house at 10 o'clock. Mrs. A. B. Gibson will give the topic.

The tourist section of the Ladies' Literary club meets Thursday next at 10 o'clock at the club house.
